Size: Small, Colour: Red, Flower time: Winter, Stem: Stemless, Frost tolerance: Medium.

Lovers of compact little aloes with flamboyant flowers will find this cultivar irresistible. Apart from the appealing red flowers the plant itself is highly ornamental - short pointed green leaves with white warty spines all over the lower surface.

In frost-prone areas this plant, in particular the flowers should be shielded against severe frost, but in areas with a low frost risk it creates a colourful show in a rockery or as a border in landscaping.
